BIG JOB FOR SAMUELS AND SAUFLEY

Investigation of Robbery of 387 Cases of Whisky at Loretta In Their Hands

(By Associated Press)

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 21—Five internal revenue agents, five investigators of the prohibition enforcement division from Washington, Covington, Roanoke and Richmond, are here today apparently to investigate the removal of 387 cases of liquor from the "free" warehouse of R. Cummins distillery at Loretta last week.

According to the Times sensational developments in the case are expected.

Rowan Saufley, of Stanford and Hugh Samuels, of Richmond, two of the best known men on the prohibition enforcement force in Kentucky, are in charge of the investigation of the big whisky robbery at Loretta, Marion county, which was told of in the Daily Register the other day. Saufley is the man who uncovered the details of the plot by which 14 barrels of whisky were stolen from the D. L. Moore distillery in Mercer county. He is chief prohibition officer of the western Kentucky division now. He and Samuels are working hard on this latest robbery. They visited the scene of the Loretta whisky theft and found that the "free" warehouse, to which 387 cases of whisky had been transferred from the bonded warehouse of R. Cummins & Company, for medicinal purposes, was empty.

It has been established beyond reasonable doubt that the "Chas. L. Lynn" who carried the keys to the "free house" and kept the mysterious "truck like a hearse," is no other than Robert J. (Bob) Lawrence, wanted at Columbus, O., for wholesale auto thefts and for whom a reward of $500 has been offered by Ohio authorities.

That "Lynn" is none other than the "Lawrence," wanted at Columbus, O., is disclosed by the fact that a pair of kid gloves left behind by his wife carried the name "Edna Lawrence," on the inside. The gloves came into possession of Mrs. Len Thompson on Thursday, February 10, the day of the Lynn's disappearance from the scene of his operations for the six weeks preceding. That afternoon, after Lynn's Cadillac became mired in the Thompson yard, Lynn and his wife came in the Ford sedan to Lebanon, where, it has been learned, they secured two five-gallon cans of gasoline and returned to Loretta. On this trip they were accompanied by Mrs. Thompson, and by mistake the gloves were placed in her purse. When Lynn was confronted by U. S. Commissioner C. C. Holdrick, of Lebanon, and Storekeeper-guager Brown on his return and the demand was made that he open the warehouse, he left on the pretext of obtaining the keys to the "free" house, and when he and Mrs. Lynn disappeared, the gloves with the telltale signature were left in Mrs. Thompson's possession.

Lynn came to Loretta six weeks ago. He and his wife obtained board at Mr. Thompson's and made their home in the cottage back of the distillery's big bonded warehouse. Lynn presented his "permit" to obtain and bottle whisky for medicinal purposes to Storekeeper Brown. It was his declared intention to bottle the whisky for "a druggist in Indianapolis." Lynn obtained 35 barrels of whisky from the bonded warehouse of R. Cummins and Company, and removed it to the "bottling house," a large room just to the rear of the superintendent's office, and adjoining the "free house." The government tax of $2.60 a gallon for medicinal use was paid to Deputy Collector R. C. Clarkson, at Lebanon. Six men and an equal number of women were employed for three days and a half in bottling the whisky, Lynn having paid for their services at the rate of $2 a day. After the whisky had been bottled and labeled, "Old Pap" whisky, "bottled for medicinal purposes," the force of workers was discharged and only a negro employee was kept by Lynn. The negro slept for a time in the "free" house, it is understood, but after the garage was built, Lynn found no further use for his services. Storekeeper Brown gauged the whisky on January 10, and last inspected the contents of the "free" house on February 4, at which time, according to his report, all the whisky was there.

Lynn had been seen at different times by residents of Loretta with the Ford sedan and the Cadillac and a Dodge touring car besides the "hearse" truck. "His wife," it was said, "ran around in the Cadillac."

The Louisville Herald gave this angle of the plot:

That the Eureka Distributing Co., of which the mysterious "C. L. Lynn" was president and for which Clem Huggins, Louisville attorney, filed articles of incorporation with County Clerk Fred O. Neutzel, December 7, 1920, never completed the process of incorporation by filing with the secretary of state and paying license, was revealed by inquiry made at Frankfort. Yet on February 10, 1921 the state automobile department issued a license to the Eureka Distributing Company for a Reo truck. This license was found attached to a truck purchased from the Reo Company by Robert J. Lawrence and which truck was seized last Wednesday, two days after the license had been issued, by Leslie Thurman, commonwealth's detective.

Why the Eureka Distributing Company, which "never functioned" after its organization," according to Mr. Huggins, should purchase a truck and engage in some kind of "business" without authority from the state last night remained an unanswered question.

The best information now obtainable is to the effect that eleven men from Canton, O., composed the syndicate, and are the same men who engineered the theft of the whisky. They are reputed to be the "sickest bunch of Volstead law violators operating the south at the present time." These men, it is said, have credentials galore. They have faked United States marshals' badges.

They own a fleet of auto trucks. They supply the liquor demand of the big hotels and do a rushing business with the exclusive clubs in the principal cities of the south. That this syndicate met recently in Louisville and planned the Loretta theft with careful deliberation and thoroughness, is another rumor which seems to be borne out by the developments at Loretta. The meeting place of the syndicate is said to have been a room in a Fourth street office building.

CLAY COUNTY MAN ESCAPES JAIL AGAIN

Manchester, Ky., Feb. 21—Knocking a hole in the brick wall of the jail during the night, John D. Pace, recently arrested at the doors of the Indiana reformatory, Jeffersonville, upon completion of a term for forgery last November and brought here to face the charge of murder, escaped from the Manchester jail for the second time and is still at large.

Pace is charged with the murder of his father, John Pace, and his stepmother, Mahala Pace, in January, 1915.

While awaiting trial on that charge he escaped by crawling through a hole 12 by 15 inches. Red to Canada, according to his story, and enlisting with the Canadian expeditionary forces, he went overseas and was wounded during the world war. He was arrested in Seymour, Ind., in November, 1917, for having passed a worthless check for $86.

Police found a moonshine still at work in the heart of Paris, Arthur and Eliza Bedinger, colored, confessed they had been making and selling "shine" regularly.

Injuries Fatal To Boy

Harrodsburg, Ky., Feb. 19—Wm. Merriman, 15, was injured so seriously when in a collision between and automobile and a train at noon Friday, that he died two hours afterward. The youth, his father and a younger sister, were crossing the Southern Railway tracks near the station when their car was struck by a passing freight train.

LANDIS' CASE UP IN HOUSE

Welty Shouts Base Ball Players Are "Guilty of Bribing" With $40,500 a Year

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Feb. 21—Representative Welty, democrat, of Ohio, presenting his impeachment charges against Federal Judge Landis before the House Judiciary Committee today, subjected to a cross fire of questions, finally shouted:

"I am going to show that these base ball players are guilty of bribing Judge Landis." His statement was made in connection with the throwing of base ball games but quickly was shifted to other subjects. Representative Gard, democrat, of Ohio, asked Welty to get down to brass tacks on his charge that Landis neglected his official duties in accepting office as supreme arbiter of organized base ball. Representative Husted, republican, of New York, said it was an outrage that Landis should be drawing $40,500 from organized base ball.

$5,300 PAYROLL THEFT CHARGED IN HARLAN

Harlan, Ky., Feb. 21—Charged with the theft of a $5,300 payroll, Rice Singleton was placed in jail here today.

Singleton obtained a registered letter addressed to him at the Vander postoffice yesterday. The postmaster unwittingly handed him also a letter to the William D. Boyer Trustee & Co. A rubber band was around the two letters and the one containing the coal company's payroll was on the bottom and escaped the postmaster's notice.

Singleton returned last night with the story that he had been held up and robbed while on his way back to the postoffice after discovery of the postmaster's mistake.

His story was not believed. A man and a woman with whom he boarded also were arrested and placed in jail.

A search of the house for the missing payroll which was in large denominations of cash proved futile. The money had been sent by the Pineville State Bank.

HOSPITAL AND HOTEL BURN IN MOUNTAINS

Prestonsburg, Ky., Feb. 21—Shortly after twenty patients had been rescued from a burning hospital and carried through a driving snow at Martins last night, fire also destroyed the hotel there forcing guests to flee in their night clothes. The rescue of the patients was orderly.

The homes of the little railroad junction were taxed to the limit to take care of the hospital patients and the hotel guests.

The fire which destroyed the hospital of Dr. Edward W. Stumbo broke out at 10 o'clock. Two hours later the C. & O. Hotel, several hundred yards away, also burned. The hotel was the old Stumbo hospital building.

Authorities are investigating reports that the hospital might have been set afire by enemies of Dr. Stumbo.

The hospital recently built was valued at $25,000 and only $10,000 insurance was carried. The hotel was valued at $10,000.

SPECIAL GRAND JURY AFTER BOOTLEGGERS

Impannelled By Judge Shackelford In Circuit Court and Given Strong Charge Monday

Determined that the moonshiners and bootleggers shall not obtain a foothold in this county, if he can do anything to prevent it, Circuit Judge Shackelford impannelled a special grand jury when circuit court met Monday morning and charged it with the single duty of ferreting out liquor law violations.

The regular grand jury for this term had adjourned. It had covered law violations in the county thoroughly, it seemed, with the exception of the liquor laws. The grand jury in its report frankly stated that it could get few to tell what they knew about such violations. So Judge Shackelford got busy and called in a body of special investigators who have two weeks before them.

The judge gave this special grand jury a searching and vigorous charge concerning this evil, and left no doubt in the mind of anyone, but that he intends to see to it that if it is possible the moonshiners and bootleggers are kept out of old Madison.

The Daily Register hopes to have the privilege of printing his charge in full tomorrow.

The special grand jury is composed of the following: Messrs. M. C. Kellogg, foreman, Robert Doty, John C. Early, Elvada Fudor, T. S. Hagan, C. L. Venale, J. H. Dean, Alex. King, Thos. J. Mason, O. A. Hendren, Burchell Williams and Green Durham. They went to work immediately the judge had concluded his charge.

A new petit jury was also impannelled to serve during the last two weeks of court. There is quite a heavy docket with a number of important criminal cases, and the judge felt that the jury-men who had served so faithfully the first two weeks of court were entitled to go to their homes and look after business. The new jury is composed of Wm. McCord, F. H. Gordon, James A. Parks, May Meeks, S. P. Todd, Lucien Thompson, Cale Turpin, W. P. Wilson, Ed Taylor, H. L. Francis, Ira Masters, J. W. Bratcher, Curtis Baker, Robert Asher, Robert Minter, E. P. Rupard, Louis Todd Wm. A. Ogg, Algin Brandenburg, T. E. Baldwin, Jr., Robert Mason Jr., Hockaday Dunn, Norman Jenkins, Jesse Reed, L. C. Rowlette, Hargis Brandenburg, and N. A. Durham.

Monday was occupied mostly with the hearing of a suit for a fee in connection with the sale of a mining interest in the mountains. The parties to the suit are from Pineville and Harlan with the exception of A. M. Clark, who lives in this county now, and as notice of the suit was filed upon him, the case was tried here. J. H. Jeffries is suing J. W. Hall, L. E. Loder, A. M. Clark, and Dr. Noland for a fee of $1,000 in the matter. The plaintiff is represented by Attorney A. R. Barnum and the defendants by Attorneys G. Murray Smith and C. C. Wallace.

Keats Speed's Niece To Wed Wat Hardin's Grandson

Richmond, Va., Feb. 21—Announcement was made today of the engagement of Miss Emma Keats Sampson to A. Hardin Harris, prominent young local attorney, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Harris, 1039 West Grace street, and a grandson of the late P. Wat Hardin, of Frankfort, Ky., former attorney general of Kentucky and twice democratic candidate for governor. Miss Sampson is a daughter of Mrs. Emma Speed Sampson, former Louisville girl, and of the late Henry Aylett Sampson, former sporting editor of the New York Times, and in more recent years Virginia special agent for the St. Paul Fire and Marine Insurance Co. She is a niece of Keats Speed, New York newspaperman, and is a collateral descendant of John Keats, the English poet. On her father's side Miss Sampson is a direct descendant of Patrick Henry, the famous Virginia orator. The wedding will take place very quietly on March 13 in the Sampson home, the Rev. M. D. Hardin, Presbyterian clergyman, of Ithaca, N. Y., uncle of groom, officiating.

JUDGE QUIN REVIEWS FINNEY CASE IN FULL

In Opinion of Court of Appeals Which Sends Two Local Women to Pen in Peculiar Case

If attorneys for Mrs. Lizzie Finney and Miss Florence Turpin decide to ask for a rehearing of their cases by the Court of Appeals, this will automatically put off for 30 days their departure for the penitentiary at Frankfort. A petition for a rehearing before the state's highest court stays a sentence for 30 days whether the petition is granted or not.

The opinion in the case, which confirms judgment of the local court in sentencing the women to five and three years at Frankfort, respectively, was written by Judge Huston Quinn, of Louisville. Copies of the opinion, received here, show that the appellate judge who studied the case reviewed the testimony and facts extensively in his opinion.

"Before entering upon a discussion of this question," said the court, "we will digress long enough to read a few pages from the family history of the actors appearing in the scene soon to be presented.

"The prosecuting witness, Sarah Finney, is 65 years of age. She resided with her husband in the state of Florida until his death several years ago. He died seized of considerable real estate which was devised to his widow. After her husband's death, Mrs. Finney moved to Madison county, in this state. This couple had an only child, a son, Will Finney, who married the appellant, Lizzie Finney, in 1904. Two children, Paul and Sallie, were born of this marriage. In 1919 the daughter married at the age of 16. Appellant Florence Turpin is a sister of Lizzie Finney. Will Finney does not appear to have had any fixed employment and depended largely upon his mother for support, not only for himself, but for his family. For several years he and his family, as well as Florence Turpin, lived in the home of his mother, Lizzie Finney, apparently had charge of the house, attended, in a large degree, to the household duties and paid the household expenses and upkeep of the establishment from money furnished by the mother-in-law. Because of his dissolute habits, Lizzie Finney was compelled to leave her husband, the separation taking place about January, 1920, at which time she went to live with her father, in Estill county, and later moved with her son, sister and a brother, to Akron, Ohio.

"About the time of the separation, Sarah Finney disposed of a portion of her property for the sum of $30,625.40, which amount was deposited to her credit in a Richmond bank. On January 26, 1920, Sarah Finney gave to Lizzie Finney exactly one-half of the amount, to-wit: $15,312.70. Of the sum so received by her, Lizzie Finney paid $10,000 as part payment on the purchase price of a $22,000 house in Akron, Ohio. But why this payment to Lizzie Finney? The story is a long, weird one, reminding one of sacrifices to Moloch and of tribute paid to mythical and insatiable gods. This is the story. We will give it in narrative form as detailed by the mother-in-law, Sarah Finney.

"Lizzie Finney told me we were in a secret law suit and she told me to pay her that $15,000 and she would settle the law suit, and this is the reason I sold the property. She first spoke of the secret law suit some seven or eight years ago; told me that if I did not do this, or that, or the other, that Will would sue me; that Will said I had not done right and he did not like me and I was no good; now this man did not know a thing about me and I told her so and she told me: 'Well, granny, this is what he said.' Just kept up for seven or eight years. She first said Bertha Horn was going to sue her and make me a party because she could not make anything out of Lizzie, but she could out of me; she said if I would give her $15,000, that she could settle the case and I promised to do so and paid her the $15,000, and she said she gave it to the lawyer to settle it. But every once in a while she would come back and say she

LIGHTNING AND THUNDER SURPRISE

When Noted Late Saturday, Ushering Heaviest Snow of Season—Travelers Marooned

Old time weather sharps were given something to explain late Saturday afternoon when a clap of thunder accompanied by lightning, ushered in the worst snow storm of the season, and real old winter at last. The phenomenon occurred about 4:30 o'clock, just about the time it had begun to snow in earnest. Few could recall noting thunder or lightning accompanying a snow storm before. There was one heavy clap and one flash and that was all, but the snow kept a-coming until it covered all the country to a depth of five or six inches.

It caught a lot of folks unawares and unprepared, too. A large number had motored to Lexington to see the "Midnight Whirl" earlier in the day. Few returned that night. Several got four or five miles this side of Lexington. Those that could do so, turned around and went back. Others stuck in the huge snow drifts and sought shelter in hospitable farm houses. One car full, phoned to Lexington for a tow back.

The garage sent a car out and the return trip was started but progressed no farther than the Lexington water works plant, where both cars went into drifts and the occupants had to hunt for beds in neighboring homes. About a dozen passengers coming in on the noon train Sunday were the returning pilgrims, snowbound the night before in their cars. Meantime storage charges in Lexington garages are mounting.

Some Real Winter "Dope"

(By Associated Press) Louisville, Ky., Feb. 21—United States Weather bureau records apparently contradict two familiar sayings and beliefs about the weather—that one extreme follows another and that the winters are not as cold now as they used to be.

A weather bureau official here, discussing the question, said that the claim that one extreme follows another has never been borne out except when the weather continues wet or dry for a protracted period, when it is likely to swing to the other extreme. Recent records show that in October, 1919, it began raining and precipitation was abnormal until spring. Since then the weather has been moderate to dry. August, 1913, with 11.41 inches of rain, was the state's wettest month, and July, 1901, with 1.72 inches the driest.

Temperatures move from one phase to another over a long period of time, the official said. There is very little difference in temperature over the state generally, he said, and conditions that obtain in one section are likely to exist in another. There have been no hot summers—that is, no new records made—since those of 1913 and 1914.

"When the 'oldest inhabitant' springs the statement that winters are not as cold as they used to be, he is repeating a statement George Washington is said to have made in his declining years and which Thomas Jefferson is reported also to have remarked," said this man. "If that were true we wouldn't be having any 'weather' at all now."

The extremes, like many comets, return, he said. It may be a long time before they get here but they come. Records dating back to 1889 are on file at the local office. From 1892 to 1897, inclusive, the temperature was below zero at some time during the winter, 1893 being the coldest with a record of 22 degrees below. In 1899, no zero weather was reported but the next year the mercury dropped to 32 below.

Several warm years followed, then came the memorable winter of 1917-18.

77 Acres For $30,000

W. E. Little, of Fayette, has sold his farm of 77 acres on the Iron Works pike to H. C. Fielder, of Winchester, for approximately $30,000. Possession will be taken by the purchaser on March 1. The farm is known as the Bate-man place and is highly improved.

A Tribute

Brassfield, Ky., Feb. 21. Our hearts go out in sympathy to the bereaved parents and family of Mr. and Mrs. S. Johnson, since we have just learned of the death of their sweet little daughter, Lucy B. We know it was not God's wish that such a sweet and lovable character as she should be claimed by the Grim Reaper at the tender age of 11 years. However, as no medical aid could succor her, He willed it to be so, as it is appointed unto all once to die. An admiring friend.

City Educators Better Paid

(By Associated Press)
Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 21—Kentucky's 69 city school superintendents receive an average salary of $2,784.16 per year as compared with $1,065.47 for the 120 county school superintendents, according to figures compiled by State Superintendent of Public Instruction George Colvin. The average number of teachers under the supervision of city superintendents of 30 as compared with 91 under each county superintendent. County superintendents have under their supervision an average of 4,218 pupils, while the city average is but 1,312, the compilation shows.

TARIFF BILL KEEPS SOFT DRINKS HIGH

(By Associated Press)

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 21.—Many soda fountains are now selling bottled drinks instead of mixing syrup and carbonated water when ordered; according to George L. Wainscott, of Winchester, president of the Kentucky Bottlers' Association. He declared that methods of bottling drinks had advanced until most people would as soon drink out of a bottle as at the regular soda fountain. The five-cent soft drink is not likely to return until congress changes some of the existing taxes and the tariff on sugar is lowered, according to Mr. Wainscott. He declared that the Fordney emergency tariff bill had put this time farther away than ever.

The bottling industry is in good shape, generally, Mr. Wainscott said, and the demand for "pop" has not been affected to any big extent by war taxes. They want, however, he said, to see the early return of the five-cent drink.

SILVER CREEK

Mr. A. L. Samuels, the prominent merchant who bought the store here, has a full supply of groceries and notions and a beautiful line of dry goods. He has fine prospects of doing a good business.

will take rooms at the new Lancaster hotel, where Prof. Taylor will resume his work. Their many friends wish them a happy married life. Miss Valeria Newby and Mr. Elbert Bogie witnessed the ceremony.

Judy—Tinder

The wedding of Louis G. Tinder and Miss Willie Judy was solemnized in North Middletown at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the residence of the parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Judy, the Rev. F. M. Tinder officiating. The wedding was a quiet affair, only members of the two families being present. Following a brief trip to Cincinnati, the couple will be at home to their friends in North Middletown. The groom is a brother of Rev. F. M. Tinder, Jr., of Kirksville.

The Daily Register is informed that instead of Miss Margaret Smith being a visitor of Miss Anna Elizabeth Secrest at Irvine, she was spending the week-end in Lexington.

Master Earl Boen is at home from Berea College to spend the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Z. M. Boen.

Mrs. Fairy Long and daughters, Opal and Elizabeth, spent a few days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Haman Newby.

Miss Ada Mae Cole, of Huntington, W. Va., who frequently visits her aunt, Mrs. L. E. Lane, on West Main street, has accepted a position in Prof. Good's office at the Experiment Station in Lexington.

Mrs. L. P. Evans ill with tonsillitis.

Mr. Edwin Cobb left for New Orleans Friday.

Mrs. James W. Smith, who has been with her daughter, Mrs. Julian VanWinkle, in Louisville, is with Mrs. Newton Combs in Lexington.

Dr. and Mrs. O. O. Green left Monday morning for a visit to Mrs. Richard Gelken in Lexington.

Miss Mary Ann Collins was at home from Fugazzi Business College, Lexington, for the week-end.

Mrs. N. T. Benton has bought the interest of Miss Sue Scrivener in the Specialty Shop at Mt. Sterling. Miss Scrivener will return to her former home in Winchester.

Misses Margaret Phelps and Margaret Turley returned Saturday evening from a two week's visit to the former's sister, Mrs. Edwin C. Wines, in Orlando, Fla.

Mrs. Harry Milward, of Lexington, was here the latter part of the week, en route to Irvine for a visit to Mrs. Robert Bergman.

Mrs. W. E. Luxon is greatly improved from her recent accident and is able to be up in her room.

Mr. and Mrs. Hale Dean were in Lexington Saturday.

D. Tevis Hugely spent the past week at the Riverview hotel in Irvine.

Messrs. W. D. Oldham and Harold Oldham will leave Tuesday for the eastern markets to purchase their spring goods.

Mrs. Ivan Fish of Crab Orchard, was the recent guest of her mother, Mrs. Clara Doty Traylor, and attended the funeral of her cousin, Wearen Kennedy.

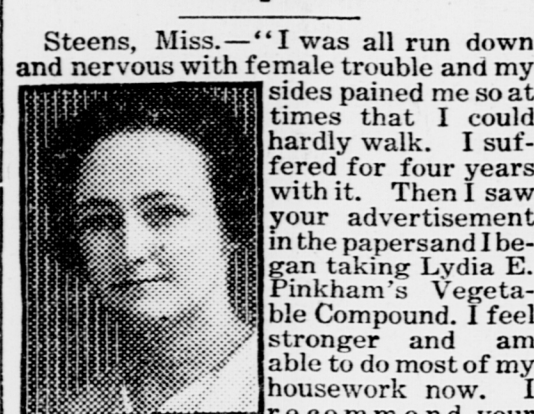

Mr. and Mrs. Beecher Adams, of Wilmore, were welcome visitors here for the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hudson, of Middletown, Ohio, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Powell on East Main street.

Miss Delia Tinder, of North Middletown, spent the week-end with her brother, Mr. Frank Tinder at Kirksville.

WOMAN SICK FOUR YEARS

Was Finally Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Steen, Miss.—"I was all run down and nervous with female trouble and my sides pained me so at times that I could hardly walk. I suffered for four years with it. Then I saw your advertisement in the papers and I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I feel stronger and am able to do most of my housework now. I recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends and you may use this letter if you care to do so."

Mrs. W. H. BLAKE, Route 1, Steens, Miss.
How many women, overworked, tired and ailing, keep up the ceaseless treadmill of their daily duties until they are afflicted with female troubles as Mrs. Blake was, and are run down, weak and nervous. But every such woman should be convinced by the many letters like hers which we are constantly publishing, proving beyond question that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will overcome such troubles and restore women to normal health and strength. Letters about your health will be given careful attention and held in strict confidence if you write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

EASTERN DEFEATS SUE BENNETT, 24-18

The Eastern goal tossers in a fast and snappy clash with Sue Bennett last Saturday evening, succeeded in shaking off the jinx that has so persistently been following the team ever since the opening game of the season. Despite the driving snow storm a large crowd of Normal students were on hand to lend inspiration and encouragement to the wearers of the Eastern colors.

It is generally conceded that the Eastern-Sue Bennett game proved the thriller of the season. The first half was conspicuous for the close guarding of both teams. The local team succeeded in scoring 12 points while their opponents tallied 10. The distribution of scores were as follows: Malloy 4; Robbins 2; McCubbins 2; Fox 2 from free throw. For the visitors: Hamm 4; Perry 2; Wilson 2; and Williams 2.

The second half revealed a type of basket ball rarely ever seen only in University and semi-professional circles. From the toss of the ball to the sounding of the timekeepers whistle, the closing session was one continuous thrill. Time after time Sue Bennett evened up the score only to have Eastern go them one better. Near the close of the game Robbins and McCubbins scored two goals in rapid succession and the shock proved too great for Sue Bennett. The spectators and rooters went wild with excitement and enthusiasm. It is rumored that more than one Normalite found it necessary to brave the storm bareheaded after the close of the fracas.

Whether these luckless individuals sacrificed their head-dress on the altar of the goddess of Luck or whether they merely desire to cool their fevered brain is not for the writer to say. But this he does know, that when an Eastern team shows the fight and determination displayed in the last game, it can be assured of a warm spot in the heart of every fellow student.

The men scoring in the second half for Eastern: Malloy 2 points; McCubbins 4; Fox 4; for Sue Bennett the following scored: Wilson 2; and Williams 4.

The score stood 22 for Eastern

MORE RICH, RED BLOOD NEEDED

Pepto-Mangan Gives You the Health to Tackle Your Daily Work With Vigor

If you sit at a desk all day in an office, whether you are perched on a high stool or seated in an upholstered chair, your body is inactive. You can't get much fresh air and outdoor exercise. Your blood becomes poor. You look pale and feel weak.

The great tonic, Pepto-Mangan, is what you need for a while. It makes rich, red blood. It restores your vital energy. Your color comes back.

When your blood is good, full of red corpuscles, you are better able to resist disease. You go about your daily work with the optimism of good health.

Try Pepto-Mangan and notice how you improve.

Pepto-Mangan is sold in both liquid and tablet form. Take either kind you prefer. Both have the same medicinal value. But be sure you get the genuine Pepto-Mangan. "Gude's." The full name, "Gude's Pepto-Mangan," should be on the package.—Ad.

CO. SUPT. SHOULD HAVE SECRETARY

(By Associated Press) Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 21.—Organization of the new county boards of education, which take effect next month, along business lines is urged in a letter just sent to members of the new boards by State Superintendent of Public Instruction George Colvin. The letter urges the employment of a secretary who shall keep the books and look after office details for the county superintendent.

The board is urged to form committees on finance, buildings and repairs, supplies and employment of teachers.

The time of the superintendent, says the letter, should be spent in the schools, only a part of it being devoted to office work. Attention to detailed work is cheaper if performed by another, it is asserted.

The boards also are urged to employ superintendents only by written contract. Members also are cautioned against voting for relatives for the position and that in the event a relative makes application either the relative

Keep Your Blood Pure Nature Will Do the Rest

Did you know that ninety per cent of all human ailments depend upon the condition of your blood?

Nature gives her warnings in various unmistakable ways, so that when the appetite fails, and you become weak and listless and a general run-down condition seems to take possession of the whole body, it is an unfailing sign that impurities will steadily accumulate until your general health will be seriously affected.

You should recognize the importance, therefore, of very promptly cleansing out the system, and keeping the blood supply pure and robust.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. at your drugstore to day, and note how promptly it builds up the appetite and gives new strength and vitality. Write for free literature and medical advice, to Chief Medical Adviser, 158 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

should withdraw his application or the member resign before the vote is taken.

"Permit me to impress upon you again that the schools exist only for the children," says the letter in conclusion, "and that every decision and every act of the county board must be judged as it affects the child. If the boards will think in terms of the child, they need have no fear of the consequences."

SWIFT PRODUCE REVIEW

Egg production has increased nearly 50 per cent as compared with the same period last year, the last receipts resulting in lower prices in the producing territory.

Poultry prices have long remained at a high level, in relation to other foods. A lighter demand for dressed poultry and smaller withdrawals from storage, however, have resulted in lower prices in the consuming centers. It is expected that prices will remain on a somewhat lower level than those which have prevailed for some time past.

Butter markets have reacted rather sharply during the past week, and while production is probably 15 per cent heavier than a year ago, the demand for current use is greater than is usually the case this time of year. Prices for butterfat have advanced at country points.

Another factor to be considered is the reopening of a number of condensery plants, which have for some time been making butter instead of condensing milk.

Immediate imports of butter will not be as large as anticipated, as the S. S. United States, due February 18, will have only 896,000 pounds of Danish butter instead of 2,464,000 pounds as originally reported.

Woman Detective Thrown Into Puddle By Quarry

Louisville, Feb. 19.—Mrs. Delia Treynor, detective, swore to a warrant charging Everett Elston with assault and battery. Mrs. Treynor charges Elston picked her up and threw her into a mud puddle in front of the Seelbach Hotel when she overtook him in his flight. She sustained bruises which later required medical attention, but gamely she continued the chase and was credited with his capture. Scores of pedestrians joined in the chase, Elston was charged with petit larceny when store officials claimed he grabbed a parcel containing four pairs of ladies hose.

TATUM TO BE TRIED OUT BY ST. LOUIS

Clell Tatum, the popular Paint Lick boy, who "burned up" all the "bush league" games in this part of the country season before last, and was then taken on by the Louisville Colonels, is to be given a great chance to make good on the big line by the St. Louis Browns of the American League, this spring. The Louisville Post tells the story as follows:

"Clell Tatum, the Paint Lick rookie, who threatened for a time last spring to become a second Carl Mays, is going to get the once-over from a major league outfit. Clell will go south with the St. Louis Browns, passing through here tonight on his way to Bogalusa.

If Clell ever makes good in professional ball it will be through the medium of a major league club. He has so much to learn that a minor league outfit can afford neither the time nor the money to teach him. It will take patience and unremitting drilling to teach Clell the fine points of the game.

Tatum's asset at present is a gift of nature. He is blessed with an underhand fast ball that crowds the batter. Besides making the hitter keep a respectful distance from the plate this shoot has enough natural stuff on it to worry the best of sluggers. When Tatum first worked out with the Colonels at Mobile he looked so rough that no trace of the diamond was visible. Joe McCarthy thought his case was hopeless but took him in hand and in a few days taught Clell how to unlimber his shoulder muscles. It was then that the Colonels first got a glimpse of what he could do. When Clell pitched in hitting practice mighty few whacks left the bat solidly, and the old-timers didn't hesitate to express their fear of Tatum's underhand swift one.

The fine art of pitching Tatum didn't seem able to pick up despite able instruction he had from Ben Tincup, Bill Meyers, and other smart members of the Colonels. As long as there was nobody on base, Tatum was a great pitcher. "Anybody who ever got on, could steal Tatum's glove. They got such leads on Clell that the coaches had to throw bases ahead of the runners in order to stop them. Manager McCarthy couldn't afford to let Clell get the experience at the expense of the Colonels' standing of the clubs, so he decided to let him try his wares in a minor aggregation. A trade was arranged through the club for Tatum to go to Mobile, but Clell never reported. Instead he went home to Paint Lick.

Tatum is a good-natured youngster and willing to listen to instruction. If he can take his tutors more seriously this year, and the Browns have the time to spend with him, Tatum may still become a wonder.

RESOLUTIONS

Because we believe there is no death, but merely a sleeping and waking, our cloud of sorrow shows a lining of golden hope.

Even as we grieve that the Grim Reaper has cut down in the very prime of life our brother, Wearan Kennedy, in his death, we, Knights of Pythias of Normal City Lodge, No. 162, have lost a worthy brother, his family a true husband and father whose place can never be filled.

Therefore, Be it Resolved, That Normal City Lodge, No. 162, do hereby extend to the bereaved wife, Mrs. Selma Kennedy, and her little son and daughter, Charles and Brunette, our deepest sympathy in this the darkest hour of their lives. May they see through the tears that blind them the face of Him who has before us tasted earthly woe, and stands with nail-pierced hands extended to welcome us as one by one as we gather. May we together realize that He doeth all things well.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the records of this lodge, that a copy be sent the family, and one to the Richmond Daily Register for publication.

HE FEELS FINER THAN IN YEARS

At Age of 83 Wichita Man Obtains Wonderful Benefits From Tanlac

"Not in years have I enjoyed such good health or felt so well generally as I do since taking Tanlac," said Benjamin Boyce, 901 Spaulding St., Wichita, Kans., a well-known retired farmer.

"I am now eighty-three years old and I hadn't expected to feel as well again as I do since taking Tanlac, and I must say I have never seen anything to equal it for building a man up. For ten years I gradually went down hill and finally became very weak. I had no appetite and what little I did eat lay heavy on my stomach like a lump of lead and caused me misery for hours.

"Well, I heard so much about Tanlac I decided to try it and see if it would bring me back to my self, and it certainly has done a fine job. A few days after I started taking the medicine my appetite got better, so I kept on taking it until now I am getting along fine. My appetite is good, and I am never troubled with indigestion and have also gained a lot of strength. I have recommended Tanlac to a number of friends and several have taken it with good results."

Tanlac is sold in Richmond by Stockton & Son; in Berea by the Welch Department Store, and at College Hill by Ginter Bros.

TOBACCO BUYER BLOCKED BY SNOW

Richmond's average continues higher than almost any other that can be heard of throughout the burley district. The total average up to the close of sales Friday, was $14.94, with almost five million pounds sold. The exact number of pounds sold was 4,846,190 for a total of $725,062.69. The sales by houses have been:

Home Tobacco Warehouse sold 2,718,010 pounds for $410,331.84. Madison Tobacco Warehouse sold 2,128,180 pounds for $314,730.85.

There were no sales Monday here, owing to the fact that W. S. Judy, the famous buyer for the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, was unable to negotiate the heavy snow drifts between here and his home in Lexington.

Low at Paris

Paris, Ky., Feb. 21.—The large amount of inferior tobacco offered on the Paris market during the present season is reflected in the extremely low average for the season to date, the lowest since the organization of the market. The season's sales to date amount to 6,308,925 pounds which brought an average of $12.60. Of this amount the Bourbon Tobacco Warehouse sold 3,840,780 pounds for an average of $12.51, and the Independent Tobacco Warehouse sold 2,468,145 pounds for an average of $12.88.

Lexington's Average $13.11

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 21.—Sales of tobacco on the Lexington market during the past week showed a slight advance, grade for grade, over the prices of the week before. The average for the week was a decrease of 1 cent from that of the previous week's sales but a larger amount of inferior tobacco went over the breaks at nearly every house.

A total of 5,510,330 pounds of burley was sold last week for $709,654.30, an average of $13.11.

HASN'T YET DECIDED ON NAVY PORTFOLIO

St. Augustine, Fla., Feb. 21.—President-elect Harding began his last week pre-inauguration conferences here today with the definite selection for three of ten cabinet places yet to be made. Although there are indications he has about made up his mind in regard to two of them, he is understood to be far from a final choice on Secretary of the Navy, the most troublesome of all. He also has most of his inauguration address to write, and virtually has but six working days left before the inauguration. Republican party leaders of the first magnitude, including some who are to sit in the cabinet, are expected here during the week.

MADISON LEADS IN DOG BREEDING

Madison county, Kentucky's most famous fox hound breeding county, has set a record for the number of kennel licenses issued, according to figures obtained from the office of State Commissioner of Agriculture and Statistics Hanna. The county, originally allotted 25 kennel licenses, ordered 35 additional.

Kennel licenses provide for from ten to 25 dogs. The original allotment to the county was fifteen 10-dog licenses and ten 25-dog licenses, making a total of 400 dogs provided for in this way. The additional licenses called for were for 10-dog kennels, making a total of at least 750 dogs in registered kennels in the county.

A number of other counties in which blooded dogs are raised have asked for additional kennel allotments. Lincoln county alone ordered tags for ten kennels totalling 100 dogs.

30,000 CHINESE DIE ON ONE BIG FIELD

(By Associated Press)

New York, Feb. 19.—Thirty thousand Chinese gathered on a great bare field outside Tientsin, China, waited patiently for food which never arrived and then slowly died there. E. S. Glines, an American engineer, reported upon his arrival here after passing six months in the famine stricken areas of North China.

The condition of the starving hordes was so pitiful, Mr. Glines said, that he "did not have the heart to take photographs of such misery." He said that the crowd at Tientsin had gathered because they believed food would reach them there more quickly than in the country. Along a road side near the field, he told of seeing the bodies of a whole family—father, mother and five children—each a few yards apart, where they had dropped and died.

"The crop failures have been almost complete in the five great provinces that make up the north of China proper—Chihli, Shantung, Shensi, Shansi and Honan," said Mr. Glines. This is the part of the country around Peking, south of Mongolia and Manchuria.

Explaining why the sections of China not stricken by famine were unable to relieve the starvation districts, Mr. Glines said: "China is largely an agricultural nation. Ninety per cent of the population lives on the tiny farms into which the country is divided. The Chinese work their land to the limit, but they cannot raise more than enough to feed themselves. Each district can raise barely enough food to support itself. That is why the 'prosperous' provinces have been able to do so little for the famine-stricken ones. They have not the food to send."

"The crops in north China have failed since 1919. The people have been unable to get more than scraps of food from other parts of China. They have been unable to get much from outside, because food has been high-priced all over the world. They have tried to move to better districts, where they could raise crops, but such districts are so far and they have had such poor resources that they have died like flies on the way."

"There is no question that more than 10,000,000 Chinese will starve to death this winter and spring unless food is rushed to them." He declared that millions will die despite aid, that the population of 45,000,000 in the famine districts is in such dire straits that it will be a physical impossibility to rush food to them to save all.

Great irrigation projects, control of flood producing streams, and improvement of transportation were cited by Mr. Glines as the only salvation of the agricultural and economic life of China.

"These things will be done in time," he said, "for China is awake. America will probably have a big part in this future of China, but we must lay aside these things for the present and devote every effort to getting food to the starving millions."

Cleaning A County

Of Hog Cholera

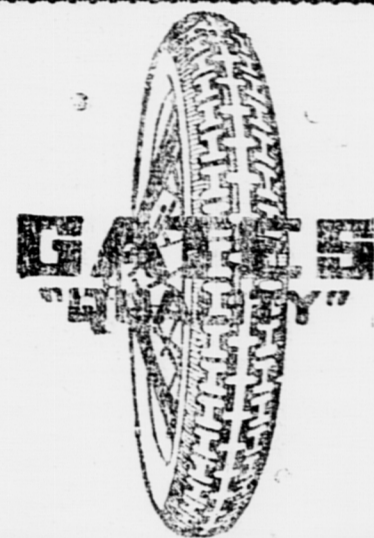

A county free from hog cholera this year is the goal to which swine breeders in Steuben county, Indiana, are working under the guidance of the local county agent and the district veterinarian of the United States Department of Agriculture. As a result of a persistent campaign for the control of cholera and strict organized effort to eradicate it, there has been a remarkable decrease in the disease in the county during the last two years. In 1917 the loss from cholera in the county, according to the county agent, was about $10,000. In 1918 it was a little less than $5,000, and in 1919, it was about the same. In 1920 however, only three cases occurred in the county, which leads the swine breeders to believe that if there efforts to control the disease are continued cholera can be practically eradicated.

THE FINNEY CASE

was afraid Bertha would come again with the law suit; that she was still making threats and she suggested that I had better go down and have a will written so that it could be held in case Bertha did anything; so I fixed up the will as she suggested.

"Later she said, 'Bertha is coming with that law suit again and it is worse than ever. She and Will Gould have gotten together and they want to get hold of you,' and she said she was going to see the circuit judge, and later she came back and said the circuit judge said I would have to keep my 'dues' paid up. This I did from time to time. She commenced at $20, and finally got up as high as $100. These 'dues' were account of the secret law suit, she told me, so I paid all along, and she says she talked with another lawyer and he told her the same about keeping these dues paid, and finally she began begging me to sell the farm. Other times she would come in and sit down and cry over it and tell me we were in a terrible shape, we were in a close place and I would try to get the money together for the dues, and then she told me we would have to get a machine so she could attend to the business of this suit, that the circuit judge told her this must be done. I told her I was not ready to get a machine, but she insisted, so that I finally purchased one for $1,575, and she told me to tell the people that I gave her this machine as a present, so that it could not be taken out in this secret law suit. When she went to Akron she took the machine with her. Again she told me she had a lawyer at Frankfort and he told her to have me sell the farm and divide it just to a copper, so when I received the money from the sale of the place I had the bank figure up exactly one-half and I took the check to the hotel where she was and gave it to her. I had seen her the evening before and she asked me about the sale of the property, being unable on account of the late hour to get to the bank, she insisted that I give her a memorandum to show the money was there and that one-half of it was coming to her. She told me when I gave her the money she was going to get the circuit judge to help her send it off. When she talked about the secret law suit, she would drive the others, with the exception of her sister, Florence, out of the house. Florence Turpin was present at all these conferences.

appear in crops grown from such seed.

In view of these facts every farmer should try to raise his plants for this year's crop from seed produced from the 1919 crop of tobacco, and avoid, if possible, the use of any seed from the 1920 crop.

It is the "hit or miss" farmer who is willing to take the chance of using such seed.

Our advice is to sow the best seed obtainable, for it is the cheapest and best in the end, and take as little risk as possible this year.

We must admit that we do not know what caused the disease during the past year and have no theory as to how to prevent it except to use care in the selection of seed.

This disease did not appear in the 1919 crop, and therefore we think that the use of seed from the 1919 crop is safer than the seed from the 1920 crop.

It is quite likely that the seed from the 1919 crop is limited in quantity and therefore it becomes the more important for the farmers who desire such seed to secure the necessary quantities as soon as possible and before the supply is exhausted.

Among the well known and leading brands of such seed which has been tested for a number of years in the Burley district and well known throughout said section by the farmers, is "Judy's Pride," produced and sold by W. S. Judy Seed Company, of Lexington, Ky., which has made a business for a number of years of producing this well known and tested variety.

In order to avoid any danger of contributing to the recurrence of rust this company burned and destroyed all the seed produced from their 1920 crop, which was cultivated solely for the purpose of securing the seed.

They are now offering to the farmers only the seed produced from their 1919 crop, of which they have only a limited quantity left. This will go to the farmers in the nature of a "first aid," and gives them an opportunity to avoid whatever risk or loss might result from rust, and they are offering this to the farmer.

This seed was carefully grown and saved from choice stalks only, and the farmers can rest assured that the use of this seed will reduce the danger of loss from rust to the minimum.

Notice

To the Public: W. O. Anderson and R. L. Hill have formed partnership business to be known as "Paint Lick Milling Co." to be operated at the old Burnam & Rucker mill at Paint Lick. We are well equipped for grinding meal and feeds and will carry for sale or exchange a line of meal, flour, feeds and coal, and will pay the prevailing market prices for corn and other farm products taken in exchange.

We have for our miller Mr. Ollie Boan, who has been a miller for several years, and is well known by the people of this vicinity. Any patronage we have will be appreciated and handled in the best possible manner. Very respectfully,
Paint Lick Milling Co.

To End Divorce

A police magistrate of Louisville, Kentucky, has been called upon to decide whether a man may marry his divorced wife's mother. In our view the real question is whether, with a view to securing the sanctity of the marriage tie, it should not be made compulsory.—Punch (London).

Stockmen Give Reasons For Existence of Runts

More than 800 replies have been received from practical stock breeders and owners in response to a questionnaire sent out by the United States Department of Agriculture in an effort to determine the cause and possible means of preventing runts in live stocks. The large number of replies, department specialists say, indicates the interest which stock breeders feel in this subject. Some of the questions asked in the questionnaire are: "From your experience, in what classes of live stock do the most runts appear (cattle, hogs, sheep, etc.)?" "In what stage of an animal's development does runtiness appear chiefly?"

"In your experience, what are the most practical methods of preventing runts?"

"Does it pay to raise runts to market size?"

"To what extent would your financial returns from live stock be increased if you had no runts?"

The replies thus far received show that inferior breeding and poor feeding are jointly responsible for nearly two-thirds of the runts among live stock, and indicate that at least 7 per cent of farm live stock is commonly in the runt class. Detailed data on the times when runtiness appears, financial losses caused by runt stock, methods of prevention, when it pays, and when it does not pay to raise runt stock are now being prepared by the department for distribution to public.

Commissioner's Sale

F. C. Cox Heirs, Plaintiffs.
On Petition.

Pursuant to judgment and order of sale entered in the above styled action by the Madison Circuit Court, at its February term, 1921, the undersigned Commissioner will expose to public sale to the highest and best bidder at the hour of 10 o'clock a. m., on the premises at Newby, Ky., on the following described property: Three certain tracts or parcels of land with improvements thereon, located near Newby, Madison county, Ky., and being the property of the late Dr. F. C. Cox.

First, the home place bounded by the lands of A. D. Estes, J. S. Stapp, and the Maple Grove turnpike and containing one acre.

Second and Third, two tracts of land, the first containing seven acres, more or less, and bounded by the land of Milton Reynolds, Willie Masters and Cora Sallee. Third, a tract of land containing twelve acres, and bounded by the lands of A. J. Newby, Joe Burrus and others.

Said Commissioner will first offer the home place of one acre and then will offer the two tracts of seven and twelve acres, and then will offer the entire property as a whole and the way bringing the most money will be accepted, said sale will be held on the home place at Newby, Ky.

Terms—Said property will be sold on a credit of one and two years, the purchaser or purchasers being required to execute sale bonds with approved security payable to the Commissioner and bearing six per cent interest from day of sale until paid, with a lien retained on the land until said bonds and interest are fully paid. Possession of said property will be given when the terms of the sale are complied with.

This May Be A Cure For Sleeping Sickness

Battle Creek, Mich., Feb. 19.—Belief that many if not all the cases of sleeping sickness throughout the country may have been botulinus poisoning was expressed today by Dr. J. H. Kellogg, of this city.

Dr. Kellogg stated he initiated research based on this theory shortly after three deaths occurred in Grand Rapids, from botulinus poisoning which laboratory tests traced to preserved spinach. Four cases diagnosed as sleeping sickness occurred here, Dr. Kellogg said, and two of them resulted fatally. They were promptly reported to the government, he said.

Laboratory tests are now being at Ann Arbor with the brain of one of the recent victims, Dr. Kellogg added.
